All Those That Pay
2,000 Fighting Planes
For One Dreadnaught
Current Events

By Arthur Brisbane
PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has recalled Secretary Wilbur of the Navy to Washington and will discuss with him "the relative value of battleships and fighting machines in war."

FACTS ALONE will influence the President, and they are not lacking. For instance: One battleship of dreadnaught class costs forty-five million dollars. For that sum the nation could build and mobilize TWO THOUSAND FIGHTING AIRPLANES. Does the President, or any other sane man, ask whether a battleship would have against 2,000 fighting air machines dropping TNT from the clouds?

THE FRENCH have come through a real war, with invasion to the very gates of Paris, millions killed, other millions wounded. THEY know something about fighting. What has France done to prepare against danger across her border?

France has a first line of defense, consisting of two thousand fighting air machines, with a reserve of two thousand more. And that fighting French air fleet is what makes England, with all her lumbering battleships, cruisers, etc., the world's greatest land power. They will continue to be polite until she can dominate the air, as she used to dominate the sea.

KING GEORGE reviews his hearts of oak and ships of steel in peace quietude, but you noticed that even in the last war battleships were kept carefully in the harbor away from rivers and submarines. Today, they would not be safe even in the harbor. England is built for fighting planes, and great, queer, loaded ships to carry them, and with such low masts her fleet is ready.

THE TWO THOUSAND first line fighting planes that Germany has in France cost less in Europe, less than half the cost of one first class dreadnaught here. No wonder France has said "Germany shall build no fighting planes."

WE CONTINUE spending millions on big guns, and ammunition for practice. They also will soon be classed among museum curiosities, used to make a loud noise in the President's saloon, or to tickle the vanity of some admiral returning to his ship. They are as obsolete now as the bows and arrows that Japan used when Perry arrived.

A SIXTEEN-INCH gun costs as much as two fighting ships. It lasts only long enough to fire 120 shots. Then it is burst out—scrap iron. The life of a fighting plane, costing half as much as a single big gun, is to that of an ordinary forty-five million dreadnaught.

MR. W. J. DAVIS, of San Diego, earnest advocate of air defense, says, truly: "The nation foremost in the air will win the next war at the drop of a dime and before the world wakes up the next morning amid the fumes of phosphorus or of bombs of some other kind, if it does wake up at all, the war will have been won."

BATTLESHIPS, BESIDES being obsolete, are frightfully expensive, soon out of date, worthless in peace. Flying machines, made of them to match this nation safe against attack by air, are the only thing that will outbursts taxation, kept up with slight expense, and they Continued on Page 14, Column 2.

MASTER ADMITS 2 MURDERS

Killed Wife and Man "To Put Them Out of Their Misery," He Confesses

Mount Vernon, Ill., Sept. 22 (U.S.S.)—A complete confession that he poisoned his wife and William Sweetin "because they were suffering and he wanted to put them out of their misery" was made today by the Rev. Lawrence M. Hight, an Methodist preacher, after a long grilling at the hands of State's Attorney Frank Thompson.

While I was temporarily bed-ridden by grief at my wife's condition, she suffering intensely at believing she was surely dying and wishing to save her, early Wednesday morning, September 10, while Mrs. Larry Laue, my daughter, Maple Eaton, and Miss Hight, were in the kitchen at my home at Ina, and my son, Robert, was in bed at home, I put some arsenic in her coffee.

"I thought was to ease her pain in her death moments," Hight said.

His confession reads: "I placed some arsenic in a dose of water and gave it to William Sweetin. He was ill in bed and I was sure he was dying. My motive was to make his last moments easier."

"And there was never anything between Hight and myself in any way," he said.

After the confession Hight was in the verge of a collapse. He passed out and on his cell cot as a physician was summoned. He complained of terrible pain in his stomach.

These Descriptions May Identify Four Plunge Victims

Here are the police descriptions of Michael Dobravlac and the four victims who have been recovered but not identified from the plane of an auto into Port Point Channel:

Dobravlac, thirty-two years old, five feet nine inches in height, wearing a blue serge suit, tan Oxford, gray tweed topcoat, gray suit hat.

A woman, thirty years old, five feet six inches, 131 pounds, blue eyes, brown hair, bobbed; light brown outer coat, green dress, dark-colored stockings, black patent leather shoes.

A boy, three feet four inches, three feet nine inches, light brown hair, gray eyes, wore a baby blue sweater, pink cotton over a gray one, and under that a yellow cotton blouse, knee pants, brown stockings, and red shoes.

A girl, five to six years old, three feet nine inches, light brown hair, gray eyes, wore a baby blue sweater, pink cotton over a gray one, and under that a yellow cotton blouse, knee pants, brown stockings, and red shoes.

SIXTH BODY HUNTED IN CHANNEL

Only One Victim of Auto's Plunge Identified; Divers' Make New Search

Five bodies were recovered from the waters of Port Point Channel, into which a speeding touring car went hurtling through the bridge railing at Dorchester avenue and Congress street.

Divers and grammers continued the search today, in the belief that the body of a sixth victim lay on the channel bed.

Michael Dobravlac, thirty-two years old, single, chauffeur and caretaker for ex-Congressman Joseph A. Conroy of Jamaica Plain, was the driver of the death car.

The unidentified victims so far recovered are:

A woman of thirty years, possessed of a bunch of boys tagged with the name of MAMA.

A boy of three or four.

A girl of five or six.

Another girl, not more than eight.

The body of which the divers and grammers are continuing the hunt today, in the belief that the body of a sixth victim lay on the channel bed.

Mother and Five Parted by Law to Meet Again

New York, Sept. 22—Five children learned today that mother is to be restored to them after an eight-month separation, through the efforts of Captain J. C. Wettengel of the battleship Texas.

Last January Mrs. Lena Heston, with her children, arrived to join her husband, who had emigrated from Germany.

She was deported when it was discovered she had been born on a ship in a foreign port and must, therefore, be classed as a native of Belgium, whose quota was exhausted.

As the German quota was not filled the children were permitted to enter the country.

BLACK HAND NOTE SENT TO FATHER

12-Year-Old Mary Burke Believed to Be Following the Wanderlust

When a girl has traveled for more than ten years all over the United States and Canada with her detective father, a week in a convent school is apt to prove restraining.

So twelve-year-old Mary Burke walked out of St. Agnes' school for girls in Newton, Mass., last Monday.

She carried her father's letter, which told him of her life of excitement with her detective father, and a few imaginative details. Sunday she wrote for a time in a Cambridge.

SIX PERSONS DROWN AS AUTO PLUNGES INTO FORT POINT CHANNEL

CAR GOING 35 MILES AN HOUR

Fort Point Channel was continued today.

HAPPENED QUICKLY.
When naval divers and the crew of a wrecking barge succeeded in raising the machine from the water, the bodies of the four other survivors still were in their seats.

Spectators said that the tragedy was over in the twinkling of an eye. There was a crash, the rising of the guard rail and the disappearing of the car into the water.

The victims did not even have time to cry out. They probably never knew their fate.

People gathered quickly. They came in dozens in some, then in hundreds and thousands, while police scoured from a line and held them back.

It was not until the tide had gone out, early today, and a naval wrecking barge and crew were divers from the Navy had taken charge that the death car was lifted to the surface. While the machine was held stationary above the water, police in small boats went out and removed the bodies.

The bodies were taken aboard the police boat Whitechapel. The wreckage of the car was placed on the government barge and taken to the Charlestown Navy Yard.

Before that former from Engine 7 and other companies had dived in an attempt to find the bodies. Their failure was due to the fact that the hull of Engine 7 managed to attach itself to the car.

The police boat Whitechapel, a police vessel, was sent to the harbor for relatives of the victims to appear.

Failure of any relative to make an appearance convinced them that the husband and father of the victim was drowned with them, the entire family being wiped out.

RIGHT TO POLICE SUNDAY BALL IS ASKED

Initiative Petition Filed Today Calls for Changes in Present Law

Massachusetts will allow charging of admission to Sunday ball games and the taking up of collections—if an initiative petition filed today with the Secretary of State goes before the Legislature and becomes law.

The petition also would remodel present law to allow city governing bodies to say whether Sunday sports should be allowed. The present statute requires consent of a majority of the voters.

In order to bring the petition before the Legislature, 20,000 signatures must be seen on or before the first Wednesday in December.

Former Attorney General Herbert Parker leads the list of sponsors, which includes Arthur J. Doherty, William H. Carter, Newbury, former Mayor Ashley of New Bedford, Joseph W. Conroy, president of the Boston Police Association, and Francis Killea, Brookline.

SHOW FLIGHT OF 28-3 IN LATEST NEWSREEL
What a wonderful sensation it must have been to find away on the giant dirigible, 28-3, speeding along at sixty-five miles an hour, with the comfort of an overland trip.

A true record of this historic trip was made by Captain Earl V. Ingersoll, cameraman of International News 78, now showing at leading theatres.

In addition to this there are views of the Prince of Wales as he sailed to Germany, and a view of the enormous crowds on the Legion veterans parade in the thousands in a World War march at their national convention in St. Paul, Minn.

Fall Opening of Draperies

Especially Featuring a Wonderful Bedford Fabric for Curtains and Overdrapes

The beauty and lustre of this remarkable novelty is attracting a great deal of attention in our Temple Place window. At first glance it suggests a new gauze made like changeable silk; the shading and tone of the colors is almost perfect. The air of quality is unquestionable. It looks like material costing several dollars a yard at least—actually it costs less than one dollar. Look at it carefully in the window and see if you can guess what this fabric really is; then we'll tell you.

Curtains from $1.39 up

Plain curtains, ruffled curtains, Dutch curtains—more dainty and bewitching than ever in the new fall materials and colors. Beautiful hand-drawn voile curtains that give instant distinction to the window they frame. Never, it seems to us, were overdrapes so successful and interesting—and all the colors are fast. You have our guarantee for it.

They Bloom All Winter

The cretione corners surpass expectation—they are like nothing so much as a great garden. You almost expect to notice the fragrance and it's about the only thing we can't claim for them. These beautiful new designs that stir our pride will awaken your interest; the display is really unusually good. All prices from 29c to $1.50 a yard; the latter guaranteed absolutely not to fade under any conditions.

Come in Monday

or the first day after that is convenient. This invitation is just as cordial whether you need to buy draperies or not.

SAVE STEPS IN SHOPPING THE AMERICAN CLASSIFIED WAY

When in Rome, Be Romantic

And when in Boston, be Parisian. It is an easy matter. In fact, after tomorrow, September 23, you won't have much excuse for being anything but stylish. On that day, Tuesday, September 23, the Boston American will issue a section devoted to a FORECAST OF FALL FASHIONS, 1924, illustrating and describing Paris fashions as relayed to us by our own correspondent and the many Boston buyers who, returning from abroad on every boat, bring la Parisienne's final whisper about the mode.

As always, it is a changing mode. There are many new things to learn about fashionable dressing—the colors you needs must wear, the length of your skirts, the size of hats, shoes for evening and daytime wear, sports, fashions and formal attire. The new materials receive due attention in this fashion section, and jewelry, scarfs and accessories are not overlooked. Better order your copy of the September 23rd Boston American today. There will be a great demand for this issue and your news dealer is likely to run short.

Being stylishly dressed needn't mean being expensively dressed. You can read the FORECAST OF FALL FASHIONS and learn how to discriminate between what is really new and what is merely a fad of the moment—authoritative styles have dignity, charm and lasting qualities not to be found in unsanctioned offerings.

Don't forget—tomorrow, September 23 — FORECAST OF FALL FASHIONS, 1924—with each copy of the Boston American. Order your copy now.

Social Activities Centering in Berkshire Hills

By BETTY ALDEN

WHEN Nature takes her brush in hand and begins her fall painting, then the Berkshire Hills take on glory.

Many members of the colony remain until the foliage is brilliant with splashes of crimson and orange, and not a few come to the hills just for the autumn months.

At present the invitation tennis tournament at the Lenox Club is being played and a good-sized gallery watching the performers.

Among the Bostonians taking part in these matches which opened on Friday is L. Brooks Penno, Jr., who has participated in numerous tournaments held this summer at various New England resorts. The young Harvard 22 man is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Higginson during his Lenox stay.

Another guest at "The Lodge," as the Higginson place is called, is titian-haired Miss Louise Page, one of the daintiest buds of two seasons ago.

Mr. and Mrs. JOHN HAYS HAMMOND, whose summer home at Gloucester has been deserted this season, are planning to return from abroad early next month.

The Hammonds, who were accompanied by their daughter, Miss Natalie Hammond, occupied an apartment at the Hyde Park Hotel for the London season. Miss Hammond is one of the few society girls who have appeared on the silver screen. She was presented at the British court last year.

Upon their return from France, whether they went from London, the Hammonds will spend the autumn and early winter at their residence in Washington, on Kalorama, road.

Later they will go to California, where they generally pass a portion of the colder season.

IN Newport, where the season is waning swiftly, there has been considerable entertaining in honor of Lord and Lady Calhoun of Thurgate, England.

The Calhouns spent several weeks in Boston at the Vendome before going on to Newport, where they are visiting for the first time in a long while.

Lady Calhoun is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Hoffman Burroughs, who lived for many years in the famous Rhode Island water-place.

During their Newport sojourn the titled visitors are guests of Mrs. Andrews, who gave a tea for them at her Bedford avenue cottage. This was followed by a dinner at "The Lodge," with Mr. and Mrs. Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Proctor were among those giving dinner at the formal opening of the Madison, a new residence hotel in New York.

DR. AND MRS. D. HUNTER McALPIN will give a reception at the Mount Washington in the White Mountains.

November 24 at the Colony Hotel in New York to present their daughter, Miss Elaine Rockefeller McAlpin. Miss Rockefeller was bridemaid at the marriage of her brother, David H. McAlpin, to Miss Nina Underwood, which took place in Belmont last June.

SOUZA'S BAND IN 2 STIRRING CONCERTS

For more than thirty years lieutenant Commander John Philip Souza has been entertaining musical Boston, but never has he been so accorded as warm a welcome as was extended him by two capacity audiences at Symphony Hall yesterday.

Not only were Souza and his band applauded to the echo after every number on their two programs, but the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, to show its appreciation and esteem, presented the illustrious bandmaster with an immense silver humidor in the form of a large projectile or shell and on the front to go the gold of the company.

When the band concluded the march doctrix to the organization, Governor Cox, on behalf of the organization, presented the humidor to the bandmaster. It is in the shape of an immense silver shell, with a gold American Eagle on the cap and the seal of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company.

The bandmaster gave Souza not only a band concert, but a vaudeville show, as well, for there was a fully equipped jazz orchestra, vocal numbers.

'KIDNAPED' GIRL OF 15 WIFE OF MAN OF 40

Somerville Mystery Fades
Before Sight of Records in Haverhill

The theory of the parents of 15-year-old Vincenza Volio of No. 223 Somerville avenue, Somerville, that their daughter had been kidnapped and was being held for ransom, not known into a cooked hat today when City Clerk William W. Roberts of Haverhill dug up the marriage records.

These showed that Vincenza was married at the City Hall several days ago to Ernesto Brogioni, 40 years old, former roomer at the Volio home. The pair had the five-day legal waiver.

Vincenza reported on the license application she was living with an aunt, Mrs. Ida Tommasi, No. 59 Atlanta street, Haverhill. Brogioni gave his address as Caswell street, Haverhill. Police believe the couple are peacefully domesticating in the shoe city.

Ernesto's culpability was indicated by the crafty way in which he had been carrying a suitcase away every morning from the Somerville home, saying it contained his tools.

The pair depicted the emptiness of the dark trunk in Ernesto's room showed the daily suitcase had been used for other purposes.

MIND TEST OF MONTH FOR THIRY

Dr. Raymond D. Thiry, alleged slayer of his brother-in-law, David M. Noble, is at present undergoing "his most rigid kind of a mental test" by a group of alienists at the Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Bridgewater.

This test, suddenly brought about by the tantrum which resulted in his transfer from East Cambridge Jail, will have a dual purpose, so far as the Commonwealth of Massachusetts is concerned.

It will determine whether the accused inmate is faking insanity or whether his reason has really snapped under the strain due to the charges of first degree murder.

Dr. Thiry's entire individual and family history is now under the scrutiny of mental experts. If his actions had not been such as to compel the transfer, his mental test would have been cursory, consisting of but an hour's examination by a board of three alienists as provided for the statute in the cases of all persons charged with homicide, whether their mentality is questioned or not.

SET DATES FOR BROCKTON
WAGE ARBITRATION

Brockton, Sept. 22.—The State Board of Arbitration has set the dates for the hearings between the Brockton Shoe Manufacturers' Association and the shoe fusticers and reformers' locals of the R. & S. W. U.

The former will be held Thurs. Sept. 23, and the latter Friday, September 26.

Twenty-nine shoe manufacturers associated with the association have asked for a general reduction in wages.

SPRINGFIELD "SMOKE
SHOP" MAN SHOT DOWN

Springfield, Sept. 22.—A mysterious assailant shot down Peter Bonavio, thirty-eight years old, today as Bonavio was opening his smoke shop at No. 1074 Columbus avenue for the day's business.

Three shots were fired by the gunman in what the police believe to be a bootlegger's feud. Two of the shots went wild. The third injured the store owner critically.

He is at the Benson Memorial Hospital, where the police will question him should he recover consciousness.

TANKER AHEAD OF BLAZING OIL

Crew Rescued as Sea Steams
From Fire; Terrific Explosion Expected

Haverhill, Sept. 22 (U.N.B.)—Radio warnings to all shipping to give the burning British oil tanker Iver a wide berth, as a terrific explosion probably would precede her plunge to the bottom, were sent out today by the Haverhill American steamship Lithuanian, which was approaching Haverhill with the crew of the doomed tanker.

Flames were leaping hundreds of feet skyward and a thick column of smoke rose over the doomed ship as the Lithuanian stood by to pick up the crew from the Iver's life boats, and the messages.

The tanker, bound from Cardiff, Wales, to Philadelphia, was 500 miles off Cape Sable, Nova Scotia, when the flames were discovered. The crew made strenuous efforts to subdue it, but the flames went beyond control. Radio calls for help were sent out and it was decided to abandon ship.

The captain ordered the boats launched and the crew of the Iver was manning the oars and pulling against the floating cauldron of blazing oil.

The distress signals were picked up by the Lithuanian, which rushed full speed to the scene.

COOLIDGE GOES AHEAD IN THE VOTE POLL

Passes La Follette in Secret
Test Being Taken by the Hearst Newspapers

New York, Sept. 22.—President Coolidge has passed Senator La Follette in the nation-wide secret Presidential poll being taken by the Hearst newspapers.

Heavy baiting in Chicago was the principal factor which carried the President into the lead by a slight margin. The President also scored his margin in Los Angeles. The latest results from Baltimore also showed a tendency in the Coolidge favor. La Follette's vote remained almost stationary in the three-cornered fight for the border State Maryland, while the President's vote of increase in the neck and neck run with John W. Davis was at the rate of three to two.

At the same time President Coolidge continued to lead Davis by a slender vote than Davis was leading La Follette.

La Follette continued to lead the young in San Francisco and Seattle. The Davis percentage of the total vote polled throughout the country dropped still further in yesterday's totals. Only in Texas and Georgia, both in the South, was Davis anywhere in the lead.

Elsewhere the returns emphasized the impression that the race for the popular vote in the Presidential election was between Coolidge and La Follette.

An analysis of the La Follette vote showed that he was drawing five Republicans to three Democrats out of every thirteen ballots. The La Follette voters were citizens who either did not vote in 1920, or supported a third party candidate, or failed to indicate their 1920 choice.

The National Presidential Poll

Here are the results, to date, of a nation-wide secret Presidential poll taken by the Hearst newspapers among all classes in every line of activity:

HOLDUP MAN WITH LEAD PIPE FLEES WITH $532

Stedfield, Sept. 22.—F. J. Frawley, manager of Baldwin's Court square luncheon, looked up today into the muzzle of a revolver.

"Give me the jack," demanded the holdup man.

Frawley hesitated, then snatched at a length of lead pipe at the side of his desk. But the holdup man seized the pipe and crushed it down on Frawley's head.

As the manager toppled to the floor, the gunman swept the money into his pocket and with a nod on the sidewalk, entered an automobile and drove away. A total of $532 and a check for $5 was obtained.

FLIERS HOP OFF FROM TUCSON TO SAN DIEGO

Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 22.—Today the globe fliers hopped off on the home stretch of their globe-encircling flight. The fliers were up at dawn here tuning up their ships for the 250 miles jump to San Diego.

The planes are in good shape and we expect to make a fast trip to San Diego. Lieutenant Lowell, South flight commander, said just before starting. Each of the fliers today had with him a genuine Navajo rug.

"Three realized on Swift & Company's sale of orange beef in Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 22, 1924, an amount of $1.12 cents per pound and averaged $1.12 cents per pound—447.

19 KILLED IN TORNADO IN NORTHWEST

Death List in Minnesota and Wisconsin May Reach Thirty

St. Paul, Sept. 22.—At least two injured and property damage estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars was the toll of tornadoes and windstorms that swept across Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Unconfirmed reports placed the number of dead at thirty. In Wisconsin, eleven persons were known to have been killed in the vicinity of Thorp. Unconfirmed reports were that twenty-two were dead. Six persons were killed at Sabin, six miles north of Thorp, one at Milwaukee and another at Elvehjem, Minn.

Wire communication with the areas has been interrupted.

ROXY CLAIMS AT DEED OF MEANS

Columbus, O., Sept. 22 (A.P.)—Miss Roxy Simpson, one of the Senate committee's star witnesses in the investigation of the administration of Harry M. Daugherty, former United States Attorney General, today charged "ridiculous" a purported statement from Gaston B. Means, former Department of Justice agent, to the former Attorney General in which Means repudiated his testimony before the committee.

Miss Simpson, former wife of Joe Smith, whose name also figured conspicuously in the Senate investigation, denied, summarily, the statement in which Means repudiated his testimony before the committee.

Miss Simpson declared that Means, "like himself, had given testimony inspired by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, president of the investigation," and denied that coercion had been used in obtaining her testimony.

"It is perfectly ridiculous, she said, 'I can only calmly acquiesce with Mr. Means. How could he know anything about my testimony? I did not say anything under coercion. No one forced me to go to Washington.

"Mr. Means' reputation was made public here by Mr. Daugherty in a letter with a letter he sent to John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate. The former Attorney General severely criticized Mr. Davis for 'referring to alleged acquiescence of my testimony without first learning the facts.'

Means declared in his statement that all testimony he gave before the Senate Committee was prompted by Senator Wheeler's suggestion that the Montana Senator knew the testimony was untrue.

DAVIS BACK FROM WEST,
CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

New York, Sept. 22.—John W. Davis is back from his drive for the Presidency in eight Western States radiating confidence of Democratic success in November.

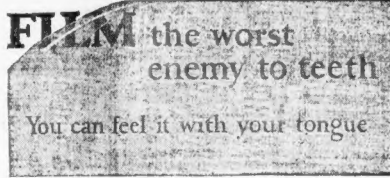

In a formal statement he asserted that everywhere he had found a general dissatisfaction with the record of the present administration, both in its dealing with domestic and foreign problems; that the former was dissatisfied with the tariff policy and that the latter man feels keenly the rising cost of living.

NEWBURYPORT SCHOOL
INJUNCTION REFUSED

Salem, Sept. 22.—Judge Raymond in Superior Court today dismissed without prejudice a petition brought by George E. Cooper and ten other taxpayers of Newburyport for an injunction against holding a special election on a referendum to increase the tax limit in order to pay for a new high school to cost $450,000, to which some of the citizens are opposed.

MARINES HELD READY FOR DUTY IN CHINA

San Diego, Sept. 22.—The 22nd Marine regiment of Marines, based here, is being held in readiness for duty in China, it was announced today. A though no definite word has been received, it is believed here the regiment may be taken across the Pacific in the Transport Argonne. Many of the men now in the regiment saw service with the Seventh Regiment in Santo Domingo.

Now Find Out what beauty is beneath the dingy film that clouds your teeth

Note how simple it really is to have the clear, glistening teeth you envy in others—for health's sake and for beauty, you must remove that film, say world's dental authorities. Send the coupon, make this unique test

MODERN science has found a new way to healthier teeth: to whiter, clearer teeth. Now, as an international movement, the people of some 50 different nations are being offered a 10-day test.

Won't you mail the coupon below? Then see for yourself what as little as 10 days of modern dental hygiene will do for you.

Your teeth may be cloudy—film-covered, discolored. If your present dentifrice fails to cope with that situation, it is surely worth while to try, at least, another way.

That stubborn film—how it makes teeth ugly and invites tooth troubles and decay. You must remove it Look at your teeth. If dull, cloudy, run your tongue across them. You will feel a film. That's the cause of the trouble. You must remove it regularly. It is ever present, ever forming.

Film is that viscous coat that you feel. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It hides the natural luster of your teeth.

It also holds food substance which ferments and causes acid. In contact with teeth, this acid invites decay. Millions of germs breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So dull and dingy teeth mean more than loss of good appearance. They may indicate danger, grave danger to your teeth.

Make this test Remember, every time you eat, food clings to your teeth. Film is constantly forming. The film that ruins teeth; that mars their luster, makes them look dingy and dull. For health's sake and beauty's sake, remove it three times daily," says leading dental authority.

This new way removes and combats it in scientific safety—it will give you the lustrous teeth you envy—quickly.

Make the test today. Clip the coupon for a free 10-day tube. Or get a full size tube of your druggist. Why follow old methods when world's dental authorities urge a better way?

The charm of your smile depends upon the clean, pearly brightness of white teeth

New methods now that mean greater tooth beauty plus better protection from tooth troubles

Ordinary tooth pastes were unable to cope adequately with that film. Not one could effectively combat it. Harsh grit tended to injure the enamel. Soap and chalk were inadequate.

Now modern dental science has found two new combatants. Their action is to curdle film and then harmlessly remove it. They are embodied in a new-type tooth paste called Pepsodent—a scientific method that is changing the tooth cleansing habits of the world.

To millions this new way has proved the folly of having dull and dingy teeth. The folly of inviting tooth troubles when their chief cause can be combated.

POPULAR TUNED RADIO FREQ. RECEIVER

Having Considerably Greater
Range Than Three Tube
Set; Easy to Construct

This circuit has become popular because of its freedom from distortion characteristic of other amplifiers that are not equipped with neutralizing controls.

The primary coil has forty turns of number twenty double cotton covered wire, wound on a three and one-half bakelite tube. It has three taps of ten turns each, providing a wavelength range from two hundred to five hundred and fifty meters.

Wind the secondary of sixty turns number twenty double cotton covered wire on the same tube, separating the two coils not less than one-quarter of an inch.

The aerial circuit is made of same size wire on primary and secondary, but with only twenty turns on the primary. In both circuits the variable condenser has a capacity of 0.005 microfarads.

In selecting a condenser for the plate circuit, it is necessary to get one that has enough inductive value to reach the higher waves above five hundred meters. It is also necessary to shunt the telephone with a fixed condenser of 0.002 mfd. The grid-leak has a resistance of two megohms, and the grid-condenser a capacity of 0.0005 mfd.

The coils should be mounted well apart, not less than six inches, to prevent any induction effects.

SELEATORS 2 GAMES RIDE

That did happen, the race would
wind up thusly:

Samuels 30 61 344
Yankos 91 63 351

If the Harris team wins four games
out of the seven left, the Yanks will have to collect every point they have a chance. Their standing just now is:

To
W. L. P. Play
Giants 39 61 344
Dodgers 39 61 344
Pirates 39 61 344

The Pirates, with two more games
to play than the Giants, would have just as much chance of winning as the Dodgers. The Giants have the advantage in the series.

Giants Have Advantage.
The race is closer, but the Giants,
in the lead, have all the advantage.
All they have to do is to break even to force the other contenders to ac-

SELEATORS 2 GAMES RIDE

That did happen, the race would
wind up thusly:

Samuels 30 61 344
Yankos 91 63 351

If the Harris team wins four games
out of the seven left, the Yanks will have to collect every point they have a chance. Their standing just now is:

To
W. L. P. Play
Giants 39 61 344
Dodgers 39 61 344
Pirates 39 61 344

The Pirates, with two more games
to play than the Giants, would have just as much chance of winning as
the Dodgers. The Giants have the advantage in the series.

MALONEY AND GARDNER SIGN FOR BOUT HERE FRIDAY

By JACK CONWAY

JUST when it was beginning to appear as though there would not be any boxing for Boston fans this week, Matchmaker Johnny McGinn of the Arroyo A. stepped into the picture with an all-star offering for Friday night at Mechanics Building.

Jim Maloney, South Boston heavyweight, will oppose Tom Gardner of San Francisco in the final skirmish of ten rounds. Maloney walked Joe Stessel at Brooklyn's Thirty Acres and did the job in rather impressive style.

NEWBORN BOUT OF BONES will be a tough fight for Maloney, who has not had sufficient time in which to get into condition for such an important bout. He is expected to be a contender for the title.

Maloney's opponent, Tom Gardner, is a former champion of the world. He is expected to be a contender for the title.

JOHNSON FIT TO PITCH OUT OF TURN

By LEE POE HART

St. Louis, Sept. 22.—Walter Perry Johnson, Washington's pitching ace, who has given his very "all" to bring the American League pennant to the national capital during recent campaigns without once being rewarded by a chance in a world series, now vows that his long consumed dream as a reality.

A winning smile came over Walter's face as he was asked to give his prediction of the outcome of the 1924 campaign. It was a modest smile, characteristic of this "grime of sportsman."

"I've had a good chance to work out at my right hand, which is my left hand, and I would like to get in one more game."

"I don't know," Johnson remarked as he looked at his right hand, which is his left hand, and I would like to get in one more game."

JOCKEY SANDE DECIDES TO QUIT RIDING

By W. S. FARNSWORTH

New York, Sept. 22.—(Universal)—Earl Sande, grandeur, American jockey, has ridden his last race.

Frapped up in his bed at Roosevelt Hospital, the king of riders, Sande, who has ridden his last race, has decided to give up riding, and therewith his connection with the turf will be as a quiet of thoroughbred.

For weeks previous to his fall at Saratoga, when he suffered a badly fractured leg, he realized that for the good of his health it would be best, either to quit riding here and train horses, or go abroad, where the weight would be much lighter than in this country, to ride.

Sande was growing heavier by the hour. He found it hard to get down to 118 pounds. Even to make that, he had to have a doctor's help. He had decided to give up riding, and therewith his connection with the turf will be as a quiet of thoroughbred.

For weeks previous to his fall at Saratoga, when he suffered a badly fractured leg, he realized

HARVARD MAPS OUT NEW SPORT PLAN TO CRUSH RIVALS

FOOTBALL IS FIRST IN LINE

WHILE the majority of the major sports at Harvard will be coached by men who are graduates of the college, the gridiron sports probably without exception will be in the hands of outsiders.

The Harvard A. A. is now meeting its plans for varsity football for the present college year. Fisher will serve as coach. He is a former coach of the Harvard football team and is generally agreed that his stewardship has been successful.

The big fellow, however, has it seems, a trying time ahead this fall and must make do very well to satisfy critical alumni who are apt to carp at the slightest slip up. Fisher is a graduate coach and one of a long line since Harvard took up the gridiron game.

He will have plenty of help, however, with his football warriors. One of the new coaches is Ed W. Mahan, football and basketball star at Harvard in 1912, 1914 and 1915.

Mahan's best labors this fall will be given to football, where he is a factor of hard play and tough of the punter, but he will wear the title of head baseball coach and be very much on the job by the new year.

Edie succeeds John T. Slattery, a former professional player and college man, who has become head coach at Boston College.

BIG-BLOW HOCKEY COACH. The second new graduate coach is Edward L. Hesper, who is to be in charge of hockey. He played the varsity game for three years, capturing the team in 1921, his senior year in college.

Hesper succeeds William Chaffin, whose assistance he will have along with that of Alfred Winsor, father of the hockey system. Fisher and Mahan will have ample assistance also in the development of their teams, the former from the customary number of old grads who help mould the freshmen and Mahan from Fred Mitchell of the Harvard.

The professional coaches for major varsity sports are Edward L. Farrell, who will be in charge of track and Edward Stevens, the Cornell graduate, who will be the crew men.

Both are serving in their respective capacities for the second year, although Farrell as first event teacher has been a Sideline for many seasons.

Both will have assistants. Farrell being aided by the first coach, Jack McKelvie, and Bill Lewis, wrestling coach.

Stevens will have Bert Haines, Red Brown, Fred Spahn and others become his out.

Harvard bowed to Yale in nearly every sport last college year, in closing all the major sports, but now seeks ample revenge.

Checkered Flag Has Fallen for Stars in Auto Race Game

A FEW years ago the names of Joe Boyer, Dario Resta and Jimmy Murphy flamed high across the horizon of the auto racing world.

They were speed personified. They typified recklessness, devil may-care courage and the inborn daring that Americans love and cherish.

Now they have run their last races. All three of them are dead—killed in the game they loved; victims of their own courage and their own enthusiasm.

Boyer, Resta, Murphy—three great fellows and all of them flagged by the Great Empire within a space of two weeks.

The racing game will miss these three—miss them as they have missed those other speed marvels who have paid the penalty for their daring before them.

But in the face of tragedy there is this thought to remember. The three of them, Resta, Murphy and Boyer, died as they would have wished. They died at the wheel, died in the game. And among the three, there is not one that would have had it otherwise.

To Dario Resta, Jimmy Murphy and Joe Boyer the checkered flag has fallen.

For them the race has ended. To Jimmy Murphy, Joe Boyer and Dario Resta—Hail and Farewell.

Robert T. Fisher will serve his sixth year as varsity football coach, and it is generally agreed that his stewardship has been successful.

The big fellow, however, has it seems, a trying time ahead this fall and must make do very well to satisfy critical alumni who are apt to carp at the slightest slip up.

WELTER CHAMP SIGNS FOR 2 BOUTS

WELTER, the welterweight champion, is engaged for two bouts. The first will be with Bobby Barlett, the hard-punching Quaker.

They are to clash in a ten round decision match at the Philadelphia National Baseball Park on September 23.

The other bout will be a twelve round no decision fracas with Harry Martone, of Jersey City, to be held at West New York on October 8.

Spalla Asks Bout to Avenge Kayo by Firpo

Short Sports of All Sorts

CAPTAIN FRANK FRISCH, second baseman, and Heinie Groh, right fielder, injured members of the Giant infield will not be able to play any more this season. Manager John McGraw announced tonight.

The tie result of the Bay Bridge of the Wollaston Yacht Club was sailed off by 1.0 mile of the bridge.

The race was for a prize of a marmoset (offered by the regatta committee of the club) and was won by the Gulls.

Plans for a tour of the United States and Canada during March, April and May by the Uruguay soccer team, Olympic champions, were begun, following a meeting of the national committee of the United States Football Association, which granted a formal request for the tour made by the South American.

The Worcester Boat Club defeated the Melford Boat Club by three lengths in the annual canoe race for the Marshall W. Symms' Trophy on Upper Mattituck Lake.

The Indian Flooring soccer team N. H. brought out a good representation of the team of 30 and five neither side could get the ball into the goal.

The Indians had a hard time of the play in the first half and led of half time by 1 to 0. Indians drew level late in the game and scored in the winning goal a minute before the final whistle.

Coach Whelan of the Boston University football team starts his training in preparation for the heavy schedule which the team has to go through this fall.

The game will be played at the University of Massachusetts and Whelan predicts that lots of work must be done.

Coach Koper of Princeton has cut his squad to six men, four to five, four to four, three to three, and three to two.

Most of the three are sophomores from last year's freshman team while the others played on either the varsity or the Glee Club.

The annual week-end meeting of the N. E. Jewelers' Golf Association at the Wausauk Hotel, Jefferson, Mass.

Should there be a tie at the end of the American League season, Sept. 20 or in the National League, Sept. 29, a series of three games will be played to decide the winner.

New arrangements will be made for the world's championship batzitz.

Commencement of Baseball, K. M. Main, held a meeting here with the owners and representatives of the New York Yankees, Washington Senators, New York Giants, Pittsburgh Pirates and Boston Red Sox all of which clubs are now very much in the running for their league flags.

KOPP BEING PLAYED IN W. AND J. BACKFIELD

Washington, Pa., Sept. 22.—Head Coach David C. Morrow and Backfield, who have been doing considerable experimenting with the Washington and Jefferson College football material in the preliminary training is far and it has resulted in the changing of Captain Herbert Kopp from an end to the backfield.

Cubs to Play White Sox

Chicago, Sept. 22.—The Chicago White Sox today accepted the challenge of the Chicago Cubs for a championship series to start October 1 at the National League Park in St. Louis. If necessary, will be played as follows: October 1, 3 and 5 at the Cubs Park, October 2, 4 and 6 at the Sox Park.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

What, now selling in Chicago at $1.30, was bringing only $1.15 a year ago. Corn, now above $1.15, was then worth only $1.05 a bushel. Oats are now 50 cents a bushel, compared with less than 40 cents last September. Rye was then worth 30 cents; it now brings about as a bushel. Barley is up 25 cents a bushel.

Wheat is bringing the former owner's bid last year. Hides command better prices. Hogs have been selling near the 110 mark, whereas a year ago they were not bringing 95. Cattle and sheep are only very slightly above the quotations ruling a year ago. Hay continues to bring good prices as last year. Lard is a distinctly better. Butter is slightly lower, but eggs are dearer than a year ago.

The cost of living for the farmer was the rest of the year. Interest rates on farm loans and other loans are lower than they were then. Labor has been somewhat more plentiful than it was last year. Federal taxes meanwhile have been reduced.

Wheat exports are today running at the extraordinary rate of 2,500,000 bushels every business day, contrasted with little more than 1,000,000 bushels a day at the time last fall. And there is every indication that wheat foreign demand will be maintained.

These are facts of basic importance in analyzing the general business outlook—and beyond the political outlook. They do not portend business depression, do they?

Take these other facts into consideration: Whereas a year ago European nations were at six-and-sevens, they are now arriving earnestly to catch up their differences and move toward recovery. Optimism is high in the circles where the extent of the change in Europe's attitude is most fully understood.

An "election scare" is being propagated by Wall Street oracles. Holders of gold securities, however, will do well to think twice before they sell on the eve of an unprecedented outflow of capital across the Atlantic, a development which will fall to mean a quickened demand for American products.

The security market is the most today of much greater importance than it was last fall. Protective industrial shares at the New York stock exchange closed weak, in average of ten points over the corresponding quotation one year ago. Railroad stocks average twelve points up. Western business is at a standstill. The severe decline in oil without effect upon the South. Automobiles are not going to be hit. Copper is still dragging at a low price.

But the strong factors greatly outnumber and outweigh the weak factors. Unless the unexpected happens, both business and stocks should do better.

Compliment to La Follette

And Spain's Trouble

Conservative statesmen in the United States must consider La Follette a man of extraordinary power. Here comes the very intelligent Mr. Beck, formerly Solicitor-General, assuring you that there is a great menace in La Follette's campaign. He (La Follette) would undermine the Constitution. Other conservatives say La Follette would pull down the Supreme Court.

Either our institutions, Constitution and Supreme Court are very feeble, or La Follette is a very powerful man.

It is hard to frighten a rooster on his own dunghill. It's hard to control and conquer a fighting people living on their own land.

Napoleon found it so when he invaded Russia. Any of our friends in Europe or Asia would repeat the discovery if they endeavored to invade the United States, in a moment of frantic insanity.

Now the Spaniards learn that it is difficult even to defeat barbarous Moors who feel that they own and are entitled to control the land in North Africa.

The latest dispatches announce that the Spaniards will give up to the Moors certain territory now supposed to belong to Spain.

In 67 Years

What Will Happen?

Mr. Harley has an interesting plan under which the French would pay us the thousands of millions they owe us in sixty-seven years. As we get back the three thousand three hundred million dollars, we should be called upon to re-invest half of it in French industries, taking bonds instead of money. France would have a moratorium of five years, during which nothing would be paid—nothing has been paid so far, you'll notice.

Whether that proposition will interest France or not remains to be seen.

Perhaps slow payment of the ten billion dollars that Europe owes us might interest us in preserving peace abroad, even if the preservation proved expensive. That would be a good thing for Europe, not such a good thing for us perhaps.

Meanwhile, what changes will occur here and in Europe while the debt is being paid in sixty-seven years? How big will the German nation be sixty-seven years from now, and how big will France be in population?

What will have happened in Russia sixty-seven years hence? And what, if anything, will the Russians do, co-operating with spirited and irritated Asiatics to force Russian and Asiatic ideas upon Western Europe?

Many things can happen in sixty-seven years, and the wise thing for an American to do is to invest his money here in America.

Changing Your Body

Removing a "Bay Window"

If you live in a house that doesn't exactly suit you have the house changed, rooms made bigger, windows wider, etc. The day is coming when the house in which we all live, the human body, will be changed as radically as any private dwelling ever was.

At Battle Creek surgeons have removed from Mr. Goodman, by surgical operation, forty pounds of unnecessary fat. In middle life men accumulate in front what the doctors politely call "an apron." The same operation was recently performed on one of the richest and ablest men in the United States.

That operation will seem simple in years to come. Surgeons will do away with pain in childbirth. And what is more important, they will perform operations to enlarge the cavity containing the pituitary gland, giving that gland room to grow, thus removing one great cause of human inferiority.

When we understand our glands as well as the electrician understands his mechanism, the efficiency of the human race will be increased at least 100 per cent.

"Must Not," Says England

So We Don't

Our navy wanted to elevate guns on battleships to increase their range, thus making our ships more nearly equal to those of other nations.

England objected. "If you elevate your guns you increase their power; therefore you increase the power of your navy. You mustn't do that. The Washington Conference forbids it." So said the British statesmen, who know how to manage us.

President Coolidge, with whom the matter rests, says the United States has a RIGHT to raise the guns, but he won't allow it to be done just now. WHY?

If this country has the right, which it has, and if the navy recommends it, why not do it? The Japanese are elevating their guns. The President's decision will be better received in England than it is in the United States, and early in November the feeling in the United States is going to count.

Dirigibles Too Slow

Fighting Hawks Are Needed

The navy's big dirigible Shenandoah will take part in a mimic war against battleships. Not much in that idea. She is too big, too easily hit by anti-aircraft guns, too slow. She is like an inflated turtle, sent to catch rabbits. For that work swift fliers are necessary.

High speed flying machines, starting out a thousand at a time, each carrying a bomb that would destroy any battleship, will drive surface fighting ships from the sea. Dirigibles might be useful. If scientifically painted they could sail so high as to be out of sight. But that would interfere with their aim.

In the next war, battleships will never leave their harbors. In the last war, with submarines and flying machines partly developed, the English and Germans were afraid to send their fleets to sea.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

WHAT is the girl of today coming to? screams Mrs. Grundy.

Well, if she has her way, she is coming to the same station where her mother got off—a two-story apartment, with a pink bathroom in the corner and an embossed maroon certificate in the lower bureau drawer.

Time, customs and habits—new change, but you can't change history, not the workings of the human heart.

Today's daughter says, "No wedding veil for me!"

She may slung her shoulders at marriage, and vehemently protest against the idea of being "owned" by any man. But, don't let her fool you, she is just as determined to OWN a MAN herself, some day, as her mother was.

Her mother said, "I am wedded to my career."

But, it's the same old bluff, dear heart, with which to expose a man's fighting spirit and BACKE him into marriage.

She may speak a different language, but the universal language of love is, now and always, a KISS.

And, a kiss is the same old mixture of desire, thrill, curiosity, perhaps, a little surprise, hope and disappointment, as ever.

Feminine methods may be altered; the net and the snare have been transformed to resemble a golf stick and an arrow. But, the old love of the chase and the masculine desire to do the OWEN "pursuing" is still man's ruling passion.

You can shoot him out of it by meeting him half way; you can make his wooing a path of thornless roses. You can lead him to an easy conquest and a ready-to-surrender love—but you can't make him LIKE it!

The clinging vine may be as passive as a petticoat, but she still manages to "own" herself around a man's heart; while the girl who goes after him with a bludgeon can't make a dent in it.

One-piece bathing suits may catch the roving eye, but, vanguard fashion, and widow's weeds still catch the husband.

A man may like a frank, snappy, but fellow getting partner for a holiday afternoon, but she doesn't make his head swim, nor cause him to lose a single beat. Today, as always, it's not what F. knows about a woman that fascinates him, but what he thinks he DOESN'T know.

It may be a great deal easier to get a man to MAKE love to you in this chummy days, but it's just as hard as ever to make him really LOVE you.

Tired of Gathering Wood Helping Hand Editor:

I am a poor mother a load of wood. There are five children in our family and we have to go to the dump and gather wood for her. Mother has hardly anything left.

She takes size 44. Also, if not asking too much, I would like to get a couch hammock for my poor cousin, who is a cripple.

Yours truly, JIM.

Home for Kitten Helping Hand Editor:

I sometimes read of cripples asking for toys or someone asking for a pet. Now I have a real live toy—a bob-tailed kitten. She wants to be cared for and I feel my parents cannot afford to buy a cat and I will certainly appreciate it.

J. C.

Wants Violin Case Helping Hand Editor:

I have some kind reader a violin case for a full size violin. There are six other children in our family to be cared for and I feel my parents cannot afford to buy a case and I will certainly appreciate it.

Mrs. L. H. S.

Infants' Food Offered Helping Hand Editor:

As my baby is now able to eat other foods and does not need an infant food, I will gladly send you a can of it. I have not space to send more than one can, but I will send you one.

MRS. G. L. W.

Grateful for Clothes Helping Hand Editor:

I have some kind reader a box of clothes for my little ones. I have not space to send more than one box, but I will send you one.

IDEA OF FAMILIAR SPIRIT

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE idea of the Familiar Spirit has long been used among Romancers. It is a spirit whose principal business it seems to be to annoy us, although it sometimes has comforting qualifications. The idea arises out of the fact that those who enjoy things keenly are, by the same token, qualified to suffer keenly.

The country parson speaks of those who suffer extremely by going into an untidy room, and saying that there are those who experience as much pain in having a tooth filled as others do in losing a limb.

A Frenchman some time ago committed suicide for the reason that he was unable to endure being bitten by fleas.

Some persons are so sensitive that they suffer the most excruciating torture from things that would leave others untouched. Often a man is praised for heroism who is simply imperturbable. It is often the custom for those who suffer intensely to look with envy upon the quiescence of those who suffer nothing, but they fail to realize that their ability to suffer is also their ability to enjoy.

A French writer says that we often think of idleness as one of the beatitudes of heaven while we ought to think of it as one of the miseries of hell. Most of us would rather do anything than to sit still and think of nothing. We are, at such times, annoyed by our Familiar Spirit who keeps at us as industriously as the vulture kept at the liver of Prometheus. It is our Familiar Spirit that will not let us chew our cud, or ruminate, if we do not have our faculties employed, they turn upon us and torment us.

One escape from the Familiar Spirit is sleep, as most of us know the pains of wakefulness. It is a fortunate man who is able to sleep when he will. The Duke of Wellington had this capacity. At one time he was told that the guns would not be ready for two hours. "Then," said he, "we had better have a little sleep." He sat down in a trench, leaned his head against its side and was fast asleep in a minute. But it is against his side and not fast asleep in a minute. But it is not everyone of us who can so escape the Familiar Spirit. We must keep hard at work or play or it will be at us and stick pins in us.

CHANGES IN THE SUN UPSET SEASONS

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

IF RECENT special, and very capable, studies had not shown that the sun has, during the past few years, fluctuated noticeably in its output of radiation, the meteorological vagaries of the year 1924 might have seemed less significant than they now do.

Formerly nobody except astronomers felt a lively interest in variable stars. Algol, with its demon striking, almost closing its staring eye every second or third night, only to open it wide again within a few hours; or Mira Ceti, "the Wonderful Whale," hiding out portentously every nine months and then sinking clear out of sight, far below the level of any but telescope-sighted night sky, were the only stars that the general public knew much more than of their names.

Now that we have found out that our own sun is a variable star, and that those variations are sufficient to produce exactly measurable, as well as disagreeably changeable, and capricious, temperature on this little planet, the subject of stellar variation assumes a personal interest for everybody.

The steadfastness of the sun has usually been taken for granted, and it has been held up as a typical example of faithful and never failing performance of duty. The only trouble with that idea is that it never had any other foundation than human egotism.

We easily persuaded ourselves that the sun was just the sky to give light and heat to the inhabitants of the earth, whereas in fact the existence of the earth is an insignificant incident in the history of the great, the circling of a vast, the varied insect around an eye is light.

For the pendulum of the variation of which the sun is capable we do not know. But even the five or six per cent. of temperature loss which its radiation has shown, as compared with general average, has been sufficient to change the seasons in some places to an uncomfortable degree, if not the least. A considerably greater future would unquestionably have disastrous results. Is there, then, any reason to expect an increase in the sun's variability?

Perhaps not, but at the same time it is significant with reference to this question that the geological history of the earth speaks of times in the remote past when things happened that might well have been the result, in some cases of a great increase in the sun's radiation, and in other cases of a similarly great decrease.

The real cause of the great ice ages, with their intervening periods of high temperature, has never been unveiled—at least not to everyone's satisfaction. Neither is the reason known why, during a long past age, the polar regions of the earth were the scene of almost perpetual life where now only continents and sea reefs, and eternal snow exist.

If we did not see in the heavens around us some very conspicuous signs of a change of solar radiation, we might be tempted to think that such a thing could happen with him; but with these instances before our eyes, considered together with the now established fact that he actually does vary irregularly, though but to a small extent, we can hardly shut out the consideration that at times these variations may attain a calamitous magnitude.

As far as we yet know, man began his career on the earth in the latest ice age, so that, if that strange geological event was actually due to a change of solar radiation, the human history has not been long enough to cover a return to the pendulum.

The present studies of the radiation constitute, perhaps, the most important work that the human race have ever undertaken.

When we take into account the fact that the sun is a variable star, and that those variations are sufficient to produce exactly measurable, as well as disagreeably changeable, and capricious, temperature on this little planet, the subject of stellar variation assumes a personal interest for everybody.
